

The Most Effective and Efficient Alternative is: Alternative D

• Lewis and Clark National and State Historical Park

Implementation of this alternative would:

- Add Clark's Dismal Nitch and Station Camp to Fort Clatsop National Memorial.
- Add a 10-20 Acre site at Cape Disappointment State Park to Fort Clatsop National Memorial as a Memorial to Thomas Jefferson
- Rename Fort Clatsop National Memorial as Lewis & Clark National Historical Park.
- Add four sites that would be designated state historical parks. Washington and Oregon will establish Lewis and Clark State Historical Parks.
- Advance the Commemoration of Lewis and Clark history throughout the lower Columbia River.
- Enhance public use and stewardship of Lewis and Clark resources in the area.

Alternative D Details

Megler Safety Rest Area (Clark's Dismal Nitch - Unit of Lewis and Clark National Historical Park)

- NPS would acquire land northwest of the rest area for park purposes.
- WSDOT safety rest area possibly would be relocated or closed.
- NPS would obtain a conservation easement from willing sellers over land to the north of the rest area.

Station Camp - Unit of Lewis and Clark National Historical Park

- Includes realignment of U.S. Highway 101.
- Riverfront park would be developed with visitor improvements.
- Site would be owned and managed by NPS with a conservation easement, obtained from willing sellers, over the privately owned forested hillside to the north.

Cape Disappointment State Park & Memorial to Thomas Jefferson

- Cape Disappointment State Park would continue to be managed by Washington State Parks
- 10-20 acre Memorial to Thomas Jefferson would be created within Cape Disappointment State Park.
- Memorial to Thomas Jefferson would be managed by the NPS as a unit of Lewis and Clark National Historical Park

Boundary Study

Lower Columbia River Lewis and Clark Sites

Funded by the State of Washington and the National Park Service through its Park Planning Program

September 2003

